THE LEGISLATURE YESTERDAY. Mr. Cooper, of Bedford, entered a mo tion to reconsider the vote rejecting the bill increasing the tax on marriage licenses

Bills were introduced, by Mr. Self, anumerate the free male citizens of the State and providing for taking the census for the year 1871; by Mr. Etheridge, to reequish the State's clam to certain property in Cleveland; by Mr. Slaughter, to reluca the tax on merchants' privileges twenty-five per cent.
The motion to reconsider the vote passing Senate bill to reduce the taxes on real estate and personal property, was carried, and afterwards the bill was laid upon the table, ayes 13, noes 12. Senate bill to levy an additional tax of fifty per cent more than is now levied by law, was laid upon the table, ayes 17, noes 7.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. Mr. Steele, from the Committee of F nance, Ways and Means, reported a resolution directing the Comptroller to turn over the notes of Geo. R. Rutter to Judge Thomas R. Smith, attorney for the State, which was adopted.

Bills were introduced, by Mr. Fleming, t repeal the act for the protection of sheriffs and constables : by Mr. Dillin, imposing a fine on persons refusing to work on the public roads; by Mr. Rhea, to establish the rate of interest at eight per cent.; by Mr. Singletary, to repeal the common school law; by Mr. Eckle, to compensate jarors for holding inquests; by Mr. Young, to tax real estate brokers $25 and onefourth per cent on gross amount of sales

Mr. Steels offered a resolution directing the Comptroller not to issue any more bonds to railroad companies, until the Legislature takes action on bills now before it on the subject, which was adopted. Senate resolution authorizing the emplayment of counsel to collect the interest tue on the bonds of the Evansville, Henderson and Nashville Railroad was adopted.

TENNESSEE BONDS were quoted in New York vesterday at 53c for old and 49c for new. This is lower than our bonds have been for a long time. The general government has loaned it credit to railroads to the extent of nearly $70,000,000, and has granted 185,890,794 acres of public lands or 200,454 square miles, equal, it is said, to the combined area of Great Britain and France. A Washixorox dispatch says it is set the tariff or protective system, as it is understood that one of the committee, Judge Keliey, has submitted propositions that are approved by his coffeagues generally, whereby provision is to be made for the removal of duties from a large number of articles we do not produce in this country; in the aggregate making a reduction of tariff income of about seventy millions of dollars in this direction.

- Torouxa the much talked of resumption of specie payments, Senator Morton, of Indiana, it is said, insists upon an enlast session, viz: A set time at which resumption shall take place. It is developed that the plan of immediate resumption at all hazards has received a vast accession of strength from many leading l Radical members of the Senate and House. The recommendations of Mr. Boutwell upon this point are problematical, but he will not recommend immediate resumption, and the better opinion seems to be that he will follow the lead of Senator

Colfax is known to be dissatisfied with Grant's action in the "appointment business," and the corresponclent says he could name more than a dozen Radical sorcheads in the Senate, besides "a few who are preparing the way to leave "the sinking ship.

THE Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Gazette states that there is serious talk among Itadical Senators and Representatives of restoring the Tenureof Office law to its original state. It was concocted to hamper Andrew Johnson and upon the advent of Grant some of its more objectionable provisions were stricken out. It is now alleged that it the matter of officials, the bulk of Grant's appointees, since the adjournment of Congress, have been quite as objectionable to the leaders as those of his predecessor. dent thinks there is n doubt that many of the "suspended" civil officers will be restored by the action of the Scoate, under the law as it stands. the landlord." e discussions in the Senate have been of that body. Our own views will be diffidently expressed.

We start with a proposition which we have hitherto announced: that That, we illustrated by the revenue tax on whisky, which is $10,000,000 greater at fifty cents on the gallon than it was at simple reason is, disguise it as we may, that, at the lower rate, it pays to be honest. At the higher rate, the reverse is true. There is no principle Scripture more directly applicable to the present age than that

We have also said in a former article To say we cannot pay, is one thing. To say we will not pay, is another. But, if driven to a point where we cannot pay, will then be much easier for us to say we will not pay."

Having these two expressions clearly before us, and bearing constantly in mind the facts and figures which we have from day to day presented to our enders, we come to determine what hall be done to preserve the credit of the State and pay off its just indebtedness. Here there are a multitude of questions, varied and complicated, which press upon us. There are our Railroads, School Fund, Penitentiary, State tax on realty, on personalty, on privileges, the merchants' tax, the impoverishment of the people and many other points of consideration, which come rushing upon us with a rapidity and force which bewilder and amaze. Truly, our Legislature has before it a Henculean task. How best to perform it, we propose, perhaps to-morrow, respectfully to suggest.

IMMAGULATE MASSACHUSETTS. The Massachusetts newspapers mention a melancholy case of insanity from over work, which has just occurred at Worcester. James Preston, aged about 15, was employed in the Quinsigamond Wire with he sent to the Senate for the vacant | Works. For two years he has worked regularly eleven hours a day, and each alternate week the same number of hours at night. He did not attend school at all, and his employer was thus guilty of a I. C. Houk has resigned his office of violation of statute law, for which we Judge of the seventeenth judicial circuit, are glad to learn he is to be indicted. The poor boy bad parents, but they did said to be of a hopeless character; and, resigned just as his circuit is about to be altogether, a worse case of cruelty to a hild we do not remember to have heard t.—New York Tribune.

The case of this lad is but a sample of thousands of similar ones, says the Rochester Union, that continually exist in the factories of the wealthy and tariff "protected" manufacturers of Massachusetts, and that do not terminate in insanity or death, simply because the mind and the body are strong enough to bear their borden without breaking. This is a fact repeatedly shown by trustworthy newspapers, and even by official reports. True, there is a law upon the statute book against such inhumanity, but it is a dead letter. The men who are guilty of the crimes above depicted are the men who make the bodies that make dorsement of the plan proposed by him and have the administration of the laws. If the boy James Preston were only a negro, and had been worked to a loss of reason by some Southern planter, how the Tribine would howl, not in a brief and tame paragraph like the above, but in olumns of special correspondence and editorial denunciation! And how Sumner and Wilson, the Senators from Massachusetts, would weep and gnash their eeth in Congress, and call upon the federal government to raise its heavy hand and redress the wrong! But the poor boy Preston has the misfortune to be white, Tor Baltimore Gazette's Washington and his case receives but a passing notice and is in a day forgotten. Immaculat absided into the quiet walks of private ife. An inquiry into their presen whereabouts shows that they are gener ally engaged in obtaining a livelihood and n furthering enterprises for the advance ment of the industrial interests of the South, without any apparent aspiration beyond. This is an acknowledgment ment consistent with their professions None are more earnest than they in seek ing to restore the country to a prospero and happy issue; none more devoted a the encouragement of productive indus try. In his recent address at the Georgia State Fair, Gen. Wade Hampton, in speaking of the education of the young men o the South, said he should recommen thorough education in agriculture, con agree, civil and mechanical regineering and mining, and applied chemistry; a added. 'Could such a course of instruction be generally adopted throughout th South, and the facilities for obtaining) se placed within the reach of our young men, we should find among those who are soon to take our places men not only qualified to develop all of the reources of our country, but competent to hape its destiny for all honorable and soble ends." Touching the labor of the South, Gen. Hampton stated that his 'old slaves are cultivating the land on which they have lived for years, and there has been a constant and marked improvement in their industry in each year since their emancipation, though they have not yet attained the same efficiency as laborers as they formerly possessed;" and that he had "promised to put up for them a school house and church, and to pay a portion of the salaries of their teachers;" and argued that "such a system, if generally adopted, world tend greatly to fix he laborers to the soil, and would, lo adding to their content and enjoyment, result in vast ultimate benefit to

Who were the Confederate leaders? They were Congressmen and State officers, and members of the learned professions, and Judges, and scholars. They were the best men in the South, in brains and integrity, and the only men qualified to govern. When they surrendered, their acceptance of the decision made by the war, and their pledges to be true citizens, ought to have been believed without doubt or hesitancy. Their honesty entitled them to this, and all of their interests bound them to keep their pledges. To say, in view of the facts above stated, that such men as Lee, and Wade Hampton, and Alex. H.
